CFTC Docket No. 15-23

ORDER INSTITUTING PROCEEDINGS PURSUANT TO SECTION 6(c) AND 6(d) OF THE COMMODITY EXCHANGE ACT, MAKING FINDINGS, AND IMPOSING REMEDIAL SANCTIONS

I.

The Commodity Futures Trading Commission (“Commission” or “CFTC”) has reason to believe that during the period between July 2011 through May 2013 (the “relevant period”), Double Eagle Enterprises, LLC and Double Eagle Metals (collectively “Double Eagle”) and their controlling person, Eric Arlt (“Arlt”) (collectively, “Respondents”), violated Sections 4(a) and 4d(a)(1) of the Commodity Exchange Act (“Act”), 7 U.S.C. § 6(a) and 6d(a)(1) (2012). Therefore, the Commission deems it appropriate and in the public interest that public administrative proceedings be, and hereby are, instituted to determine whether Respondents engaged in the violations set forth herein, and to determine whether any order should be issued imposing remedial sanctions.

II.

In anticipation of the institution of an administrative proceeding, Respondents have submitted an Offer of Settlement (“Offer”), which the Commission has determined to accept. Without admitting or denying any of the findings and conclusions herein, Respondents consent to the entry of this Order Instituting Proceedings Pursuant to Section 6(c) and 6(d) of the Commodity Exchange Act, Making Findings, and Imposing Remedial Sanctions (“Order”) and acknowledge service of this Order.<sup>1</sup>

III.

The Commission finds the following:

A. SUMMARY

During the relevant period, Respondents violated Sections 4(a) and 4d(a)(1) of the Act by offering to enter into, entering into, confirming the execution of, and conducting an office and business in the United States for the purpose of soliciting, accepting orders for, and otherwise dealing in illegal, off-exchange retail commodity transactions while failing to be properly registered. Specifically, the transactions were financed precious metals transactions with individual investors. Arlt is directly liable for such violations, and is also liable as the controlling person of Double Eagle. Double Eagle received commissions and fees totaling $611,154.00 for these transactions.

B. RESPONDENTS

Double Eagle Enterprises, LLC and Double Eagle Metals were Florida corporations formed on or around July 26, 2006. Double Eagle’s principal place of business was Charlevoix, Michigan. Double Eagle was a telemarketing firm that solicited retail customers to invest in financed precious metals transactions. Double Eagle has never been registered with the Commission in any capacity

Eric Arlt is the incorporator and majority owner of Double Eagle. Arlt is a resident of Charlevoix, Michigan. At all relevant times herein, Arlt was the controlling person of Double Eagle. With respect to control, Arlt was the owner and operator of Double Eagle. Arlt managed the day to day operations, supervising the solicitation of retail customers and engaging in the solicitations themselves. Arlt was the ultimate decision maker and controlled all aspects of Double Eagle’s business. Arlt had both general control over Double Eagle and specific control over the conduct underlying Double Eagle’s violations, i.e., Double Eagle offering to enter into, entering into, and confirming the execution of retail financed precious metals transactions, and Double Eagle conducting an office and business in the United States for soliciting, accepting, and otherwise dealing in retail financed precious metals transactions. Arlt has never been registered with the Commission in any capacity.

<sup>1</sup> Respondents consent to the entry of this Order and to the use of these findings in this proceeding and in any other proceeding brought by the Commission or to which the Commission is a party; provided, however, that Respondents do not consent to the use of the Offer, or the findings or conclusions in this Order consented to in the Offer, as the sole basis for any other proceeding brought by the Commission, other than in a proceeding in bankruptcy or to enforce the terms of this Order. Nor do Respondents consent to the use of the Offer or this Order, or the findings or conclusions in this Order consented to in the Offer, by any other party in any other proceeding.

C. OTHER RELEVANT ENTITIES

Hunter Wise Commodities, LLC was formed as a California limited liability company in July 2007 but was converted to a Nevada limited liability company in October 2010. It held itself out on its website as “a physical commodity trading company, wholesaler, market maker, back-office support provider, and finance company.” During the relevant period, Hunter Wise executed and confirmed the execution of retail commodity transactions involving gold, silver, platinum, palladium, and copper throughout the United States using a network of telemarketing solicitors, such as Double Eagle, that it referred to as “dealers.”

AmeriFirst Management LLC (“AML”) is a Florida limited liability company formed in October 2011. It has never been registered with the Commission in any capacity. On its website, it claimed to provide dealers with “tangible assets in a growing physical market” and “guarantee[s] that every ounce of metal in [the dealer’s] customers [sic] account exists and is ready for delivery at any point in time. During the relevant period, AML executed and confirmed the execution of retail commodity transactions involving gold, silver, and platinum through the United States using a network of telemarketing solicitors, such as Double Eagle, that it referred to as “dealers.”

D. FACTS

During the relevant period, Double Eagle was a telemarketing firm that solicited retail customers to engage in financed precious metals transactions. Although Double Eagle offered precious metals on a fully paid basis, the vast majority of its business was in financed precious metals transactions. This Order relates to the financed precious metals transactions executed through Hunter Wise and AML.

Double Eagle conducted nearly all of its solicitations by telephone. Arlt, the controlling person of Double Eagle, directly solicited customers and supervised the other telemarketers involved in solicitation. When soliciting customers for financed precious metals transactions executed through Hunter Wise and AML, Arlt and the other Double Eagle telemarketers represented that to purchase a certain quantity of metal, the customer needed to deposit only a percentage of the total metal value. Double Eagle represented that the customer would receive a loan for the remaining value, and that the customer would have to pay a finance charge on the loan, as well as a service charge. In addition, in order to purchase the metal, Double Eagle represented that the customer needed to pay commission on the total metal value, and a mark-up on the spot price of the metal.

If the customer agreed to the transaction, Double Eagle confirmed the transaction and directed the customer to send Double Eagle a lump sum, which represented the total of the equity deposit, the commission amount, and the mark-up amount. Upon receipt of those funds, Double Eagle sent the funds in their entirety to Hunter Wise or AML. Hunter Wise and AML then sent Double Eagle any commission and fees due. During the relevant period, Double Eagle received $611,154.00 in commissions and fees for the retail financed precious metals transactions executed through Hunter Wise and AML.

None of Double Eagle, Hunter Wise, or AML bought, sold, loaned, stored, or transferred any physical metals for these financed precious metals transactions. Likewise, none of Double Eagle, Hunter Wise, or AML actually delivered any precious metals to any customers. Instead, Hunter Wise and AML managed exposure on these transactions using derivatives in margin trading accounts with several entities. CFTC v. Hunter Wise Commodities, LLC, Case No. 9:12-cv-81311-DMM, slip op. at 12-14 (S.D. Fla. Feb. 19, 2014) (order granting summary judgment).

LEGAL DISCUSSION

A. Relevant Statutory Background

Title VII of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010, Public Law 111-203, 124 Stat. 1376 (2010) (“the Dodd-Frank Act”) amended the Commodity Exchange Act to add, among other things, new authority over certain leveraged, margined, or financed retail commodity transactions, including authority to prohibit fraud in connection with such transactions.

Section 742(a) of the Dodd-Frank Act added Section 2(c)(2)(D), 7 U.S.C. § 2(c)(2)(D) (2012) to the Act.<sup>2</sup> Section 2(c)(2)(D) broadly applies to any agreement, contract, or transaction in any commodity that is entered into with, or offered to (even if not entered into with), a non-eligible contract participant (“non-ECP”)<sup>3</sup> or non-eligible commercial entity on a leveraged or margined basis, or financed by the offeror, the counterparty, or a person acting in concert with the offeror or counterparty on a similar basis. 7 U.S.C. § 2(c)(2)(D)(i). Section 2(c)(2)(D) further provides that such an agreement, contract, or transaction shall be subject to Sections 4(a), 4(b), and 4b of the Act “as if the agreement, contract, or transaction was a contract of sale of a commodity for future delivery.” 7 U.S.C. § 2(c)(2)(D)(iii).

Section 2(c)(2)(D)(ii) of the Act excepts certain transactions from Section 2(c)(2)(D). Section 2(c)(2)(D)(ii)(III)(aa) excepts a contract of sale that “results in actual delivery within 28 days or such other longer period as the Commission may determine by rule or regulation based upon the typical commercial practice in cash or spot markets for the commodity involved.”<sup>4</sup> Section 2(c)(2)(D)(ii)(III)(bb) excepts a contract of sale that creates an enforceable obligation to

<sup>3</sup> As is relevant to this matter, Section 1a(18)(xi) of the Act, 7 U.S.C. § 1a(18)(xi) (2012), defines an eligible contract participant as an individual who has amounts invested on a discretionary basis, the aggregate of which is in excess of $10,000,000, or which is in excess of $5,000,000 and who enters into the agreement, contract, or transaction in order to manage the risk associated with an asset owned or liability incurred, or reasonably likely to be owned or incurred, by the individual.

<sup>4</sup> The Commission has not adopted any regulations permitting a longer actual delivery period for any commodity pursuant to Section 2(c)(2)(D)(ii)(III)(aa) of the Act. Accordingly, the 28 day actual delivery period set forth in this provision remains applicable to all commodities.

deliver between a seller and a buyer that have the ability to deliver and accept delivery, respectively, in connection with the line of business of the seller and buyer.

The Commission has stated that it is the view of the Commission that the determination of whether “actual delivery” has occurred within the meaning of Section 2(c)(2)(D)(ii)(III)(aa) requires a consideration of evidence beyond the four corners of the contract documents. This interpretation of the statutory language is based on Congress’ use of the word “actual” to modify “delivery” and on the legislative history of Section 2(c)(2)(D)(ii)(III)(aa). Consistent with this interpretation, in determining whether actual delivery has occurred within 28 days, the Commission will employ a functional approach and examine how the agreement, contract, or transaction is marketed, managed, and performed, instead of relying solely on language used by the parties in the agreement, contract, or transaction.<sup>5</sup> Unless the Commission provides otherwise, the 28 days for actual delivery is 28 days from the date the agreement, contract, or transaction is confirmed to the buyer or seller, typically, a retail customer.

Other than these exceptions, Congress did not express any intent to limit the reach of Section 2(c)(2)(D). Rather, in enacting the statute Congress expressed its intent that Section 2(c)(2)(D) should be applicable to a broad range of agreements, contracts, and transactions.

Section 2(c)(2)(D) of the Act applies to all agreements, contracts, and transactions entered into with, or offered to, non-ECPs on a leveraged or margined basis, or financed by the offeror, the counterparty, or a person acting in concert with the offeror or counterparty on a similar basis, as those terms are commonly used in the industry.

B. The Commission’s Jurisdiction

Respondents offered precious metals transactions to, and entered into such transactions with, persons who were not eligible contract participants or eligible commercial entities. Generally, Respondents’ customers were unsophisticated, individual investors who did not meet the $10 million discretionary investment threshold to be considered ECPs. Moreover, Respondents offered and entered into such transactions on a margined or leveraged basis, or financed by Double Eagle, Hunter Wise or AML, which acted in concert with Respondents. Respondents’ retail financed precious metals transactions fall squarely within the Commission’s jurisdiction under Section 2(c)(2)(D) of the Act.

Respondents’ retail-financed precious metals transactions executed through Hunter Wise and AML did not result in actual delivery to the customer. As found by the district court in Hunter Wise, Hunter Wise had no actual metal to deliver. Hunter Wise, Case No. 9:12-cv-81311-DMM, slip op. at 12-14 (S.D. Fla. Feb. 19, 2014) (order granting summary judgment). Respondents’ transactions are not excepted from the Commission’s jurisdiction under Section 2(c)(2)(D)(ii)(III)(A) of the Act.

As stated above, retail commodity transactions within the scope of Section 2(c)(2)(D) of the Act are subject to enforcement under Section 4(a) of the Act, among other provisions, as if such transactions are commodity futures contracts. Section 4(a) of the Act makes it unlawful for any person to offer to enter into, enter into, execute, confirm the execution of, or conduct an office or business in the United States for the purpose of soliciting, or accepting any order for, or otherwise dealing in any transaction in, or in connection with, a commodity futures contract, unless such transaction is made on or subject to the rules of a board of trade that has been designated or registered by the CFTC as a contract market or derivatives transaction execution facility for the specific commodity.

Respondents offered to enter into, entered into, and confirmed the execution of retail financed precious metals transactions. Respondents also conducted an office and business in the United States for the purpose of soliciting, accepting orders for, and otherwise dealing in retail financed precious metals transactions. None of the retail financed precious metals transactions were conducted on or subject to the rules of a board of trade that has been designated or registered by the CFTC as a contract market or derivatives transaction execution facility for precious metals. Respondents therefore violated Section 4(a) of the Act.

Section 4d(a)(1) of the Act makes it unlawful for any person to engage as a futures commission merchant (“FCM”), unless such person is registered with the Commission as an FCM and such registration has not expired or been suspended or revoked. The Act defines FCM to include, among other things, a corporation that is engaged in soliciting or accepting orders for any agreement, contract, or transaction described in Section 2(c)(2)(D)(i) (retail commodity transactions) and in or in connection with such acceptance of such orders, accepts money, securities, or property (or extends credit in lieu thereof) to margin, guarantee, or secure any trades or contracts that result or may result therefrom. 7 U.S.C. § 1a(28)(A)(i)(I)(aa)(DD) and (II). Double Eagle acted as an FCM by soliciting and accepting customers’ orders for financed precious metals transactions and, in connection with those transactions, accepting at least $1 million from those customers, including customers who were not ECPs. As such, Double Eagle acted as an unregistered FCM. This conduct violated Section 4d(a)(1) of the Act.

E. Double Eagle is Liable for the Violations of Arlt

Double Eagle is liable for the violations of its agent, Arlt. Under Section 2(a)(1)(B) of the Act, 7 U.S.C. § 2(a)(1)(B) (2012), as well as Regulation 1.2, 17 C.F.R. § 1.2 (2014), a principal is strictly liable for the violations of its agents made within the scope of the agents’ employment. Rosenthal & Co. v. CFTC, 802 F.2d 963, 966 (7th Cir. 1986). Arlt, along with other Double Eagle telemarketers, was an agent of Double Eagle, and in the scope of his employment they violated Section 4(a) of the Act. Double Eagle is therefore liable for these violations.

F. Arlt is Liable as the Controlling Person Under Section 13(b) of the Act for Double Eagle's Violations

Arlt is directly liable for violations of Section 4(a) of the Act. In addition, Arlt directly controlled Double Eagle and directly and knowingly induced Double Eagle's conduct constituting violations of the Act; therefore, pursuant to Section 13(b) of the Act, 7 U.S.C. § 13c(b) (2012), Arlt is liable for Double Eagle's violations of Section 4(a) of the Act. Section 13(b) of the Act states that a controlling person of an entity is liable for the violations of that entity, provided that the controlling person knowingly induced, directly or indirectly, the violations, or provided that the controlling person did not act in good faith. "A fundamental purpose of Section 13b [sic] is to allow the Commission to reach behind the corporate entity to the controlling individuals of the corporation and to impose liability for violations of the Act directly on such individuals as well as the corporation itself." CFTC v. R.J. Fitzgerald & Co., Inc., 310 F.3d 1321, 1334 (11th Cir. 2002) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted), cert. denied, 543 U.S. 1034 (2004).

To establish controlling person liability under Section 13(b), the Division must show both (1) control; and (2) lack of good faith or knowing inducement of the acts constituting the violation. In re First Nat'l Trading Corp., [1992-1994 Transfer Binder] Comm. Fut. L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 26,142 at 41,787 (CFTC Jul. 20, 1994), aff'd without opinion sub nom. Pick v. CFTC, 99 F.3d 1139 (6th Cir. 1996). To establish the first element, control, a defendant must possess general control over the operation of the entity principally liable. See, e.g., R.J. Fitzgerald, 310 F.3d at 1334 (recognizing an individual who "exercised the ultimate choice-making power within the firm regarding its business decisions" as a controlling person). Evidence that a defendant is an officer, founder, principal, or the authorized signatory on the company's bank accounts indicates the power to control a company. In re Spiegel, [1987-1990 Transfer Binder] Comm. Fut. L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 24,103 at 34,767 (CFTC Jan. 12, 1988). The Division must also show that a defendant possessed specific control, which is "the power or ability to control the specific transaction or activity upon which the primary violation was predicated." Monieson v CFTC, 996 F.2d 852, 860 (7th Cir. 1993) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted). The defendant does not need to participate in or benefit from the wrongdoing; the issue is whether the defendant has the power to address the illegal conduct. Id. (finding that, in a trade allocation case, the fact that the defendant could fire or discipline responsible employees, end the placement of orders without numbers as soon as the defendant knew of it, or order a full investigation was sufficient to show specific control).

With respect to control, Arlt was the owner and operator of Double Eagle. Arlt managed the day to day operations, supervising the solicitation of retail customers and engaging in the solicitations themselves. Arlt was the ultimate decision maker and controlled all aspects of Double Eagle's business. Arlt had both general control over Double Eagle and specific control over the conduct underlying Double Eagle's violations, i.e., Double Eagle offering to enter into, entering into, and confirming the execution of retail financed precious metals transactions, and Double Eagle conducting an office and business in the United States for soliciting, accepting, and otherwise dealing in retail financed precious metals transactions.

In addition to control, the Division must show the controlling person knowingly induced, directly or indirectly, the acts constituting the violation or did not act in good faith. To show knowing inducement, the Division must show that a defendant had actual or constructive knowledge of the core activities that constituted the violation and allowed the activities to continue. In re Spiegel, [1987-1990 Transfer Binder] Comm. Fut. L. Rep. (CCH) at 34,767. To show lack of good faith, the Division must show that a defendant did not have an adequate system of internal supervision, or that a defendant did not enforce such system with reasonable diligence. Monieson, 996 F.2d at 860.

Arlt had actual knowledge that Double Eagle's business was in off-exchange, retail financed precious metals transactions, because it was the basic nature or essence of the business. He also was aware that Double Eagle was not properly registered and allowed the business to continue. Thus, Arlt knowingly induced the conduct in violation of Sections 4(a) and 4d(a)(1) of the Act.

V.

Based on the foregoing, the Commission finds that, during the relevant period, Respondents violated Sections 4(a) and 4d(a)(1) of the Act, 7 U.S.C. §§ 6(a) and 6d(a)(1).
