MARK L. HATCHER, CLERK
OF THE BANKRUPTCY COURT

Honorable Christopher M. Alston

10/24/2016

United States Bankruptcy Court

Western District of Washington

case # 16-11767-CMA

Your Honor:

My wife and I are among the many investors who purchased precious metals bullion from Northwest Territorial Mint, LLC and never received delivery of the products we ordered in the sum of $6,300.00. Now a portion of that company has filed for bankruptcy of its bullion sales operation and many of us are left without being reimbursed for our purchases nor any indication if we will ever receive any portion of the bullion purchases we made. As a previous customer of NWTM, I continue to be listed on their e-mail roster of interested customers and have, much to my chagrin, continued to receive e-mail solicitations to purchase from this company. Under the ruse of being only the Medallion Arts arm of the company, they continue to function and sell their wares while we are left with no way to recoup our investments save for whatever relief your court can afford us in the future.

Yesterday I opened my e-mail to be assaulted with a promotional flyer (attached) soliciting the sales of the product known as "Signature Silver Bullets", replicas in .999 fine silver of nine popular calibers of ammunition. These were previously available for purchase through the bullion section of the company which is now in bankruptcy and has supposedly stopped bullion sales entirely. These are not medallions, commemoratives of anything, nor lapel pins or bottle openers.....rather these are clearly bullion products being marketed in the same manner any bullion is sold, by Troy ounce weight. I believe this manner of bullion sales violates the bankruptcy restrictions imposed upon Northwest Territorial Mint and simply permits this company to return to selling bullion to new unsuspecting customers while the rest of us remain unreimbursed. I ask that the court look into this matter and take the necessary action to cease this practice. If NWTM has sufficient silver bullion to manufacture and sell these .999 fine silver cartridges, that company owes my wife and I the equivalent of 400 ounces.

Thank you in advance for your assistance in this matter.
